

Chapter 4

The universal Law of Transfiguration

“With universal laws you’re always caught because they’re built into the Adamantine particles of the universe, they are the structure. They’re not external to you, they’re within you, they’re within all of us.”

There's obviously a gap between where most of humanity is today and the Homo luminous state into which we're rapidly evolving. What this means is that humanity is about to go through a series of significant changes as we close that gap. These changes could look a bit topsy-turvey if you choose to stay inside the washing machine. The objective of this book is to outline a range of possibilities of what is highly likely to occur, and give you some information to help you and yours enjoy the transition period.

Think of yourself as a spark plug. You have to build up sufficient energy (vibration) to jump the gap. The sooner you jump the gap the sooner you're on the fun side of this. To this end, it'll be helpful to understand a couple of the 102 universal laws that apply to you. In this chapter, I feel you'll find it useful if we discuss the Law of Transfiguration and a primary law that it's strongly related to, the universal Law of Cause and Effect.

Universal laws aren't like traffic laws. Traffic laws are man-made so they're external to you. You may or may not obey them. There may or may not be consequences of obeying or not, depending upon whether you're caught. With universal laws you're always caught.

Built into the Adamantine particles of the universe, they are the structure of the universe. They're not external to you, they're within you, they're within all of us.

The Law of Transfiguration and its relationship to the Law of Cause and Effect

The Law of Transfiguration says that as something rises in vibration those things of lower vibration attached to it will fall away.

Imagine you're a dust cloth. You take yourself outside and you shake yourself in the fresh air. The low energy dust falls off. When you increase the energy with which you shake yourself, even more dust comes off. Next, you spread yourself over a railing and allow yourself to be gently swatted with a broom. More dust comes off. Let's personalize this information for you.

When you're increasing your awareness and your vibration is going up, those things in your life of a lower vibration are going to fall away. For example, relationships that are no longer serving you at the higher vibration will end. Friends and business colleagues of lower vibration will move out of your life. If your job is of a lower vibration, you'll probably find yourself looking for a new job. The very things that used to interest you are going to change to suit your higher vibration. Also, and most importantly, beliefs and emotions of low vibration are going to rise up in your energy field. These will include beliefs you didn't even know you had. You're going to want to recognize them, take the learning from them, and let them go. Holding onto them is apt to bring painful experiences into your life. The experiences are the messaging system.

Let's look at the 99% of the unseen you

In terms of frequencies, it's easily understood. Let's view it from the perspective of the universal Law of Attraction, which has rightfully received much attention because of the movie The Secret. I once was talking on the telephone to a friend who was lamenting that everyone he met was angry, and that upset him. I mentioned the reason for this was that he was angry. Because he was angry, his Spirit was providing him with lots of situations of anger so he could see the anger in himself. Seeing it he could learn from it and release it. I volunteered that I hadn't met an angry person in four years. This coincided with releasing my anger. Let's examine this from the perspective of energy.

This particular person had the frequency of anger vibrating within his energy field. That frequency of anger was being broadcast by his energy field. Pursuant to the Law of Similars (Attraction), his broadcast anger was like a homing signal to attract more anger into his life. Anger is a low vibration. When he chooses to release his angry vibrations, his overall vibration is going to go up. Because his hologram will then no longer have the vibration of anger in it, angry people won't be attracted into his life any longer.

Everything that happens to you is a mirror for you to see yourself

In making these types of statements and assessments of self, it's very important to look at the subtleties between frequencies. Sometime prior to the phone call, I had worked with a healer who'd suggested I had certain negative emotional states bottled up inside me. I commented that it was good that at least none of them were anger. She responded: "Well then, why is red light firing out of your energy field when you say that?" Her comment startled me out of my complacency and into a place of higher awareness. When I choose to look at my own beliefs, thoughts, values and attitudes energetically, I have to be in a place of complete honesty. I have to be much more alert as to what is happening in my life and all around me.

What beliefs you actually contain within your energy fields are going to be shown to you by the universal Law of Cause and Effect. The universe works perfectly. It's actually energetically mirroring to you what is going on inside your energy systems. Your personal universal mirrors, which reflect what is going on in you, are governed by the universal Law of Cause and Effect. That's why I say there are no accidents in the universe. Everything that happens in the course of your day has meaning. It's provided to you so you can learn. Pay attention. If the person at the take-out counter is rude to you, then you want to look for the rudeness within you. If the people around you are impatient, then you want to look for the impatience within yourself. If you witness an act of intolerance, then look for the intolerance within. If there are unhappy people around you, look for the

The Law of Transfiguration says that as something rises in vibration those things of lower vibration attached to it will fall away

unhappiness within. If people around you are complaining and causing you frustration, look for the frustrated (perhaps silent) complainer within. Similarly, if people are joyous around you, then they're showing you the joy within.

The universe works perfectly. It's actually energetically mirroring to you what is going on inside your energy systems

In every situation, the people around you are acting as mirrors, and they're mirroring back to you what is going on within yourself. Therefore, life is constantly showing you lessons about yourself. You're being shown what your container contains, and you're being shown the rules you're operating by. This is giving you constant feedback about what you believe and feel and think. If anything you don't like happens in your life there's a simple solution— change you. You see, nothing is happening to you — everything is happening for you. Change yourself and your world reflects back to you the change.

Instant feedback

Everything is information, and all information is of the utmost importance. It's showing you how to change your world forever. All changes happen in energy. For example, let's say you often feel worried or stressed, angry and fearful, abused or unfairly treated. Or, let's say you are sad or you are apathetic. These are all energy states of low vibration. When you remove them, then via the universal Law of Cause and Effect, the mirrors in your personal universe change. Instantly, new and different things of the changed you will be reflected back. Those people who made you angry, or abused you, or treated you unfairly, have done their job so then they can leave your life. If you think that anyone in your life has done something to you and the problem is with them, then you've become a river in Egypt. You are 'de Nile', meaning you are 'in denial'. You are denying that your vibration brought these people and the events into your life. You are denying yourself the golden offer of helping you to change. This is why you want to honour and respect everyone you encounter. They're all working for you.

The Boston Presentation

I had to give a presentation to a large financial fund in Boston. My company wanted to raise $75 million. As I stood in the reception area I had butterflies. Everything is information. I knew I could muscle through the presentation. I've been doing it my whole life. But this time, in a state of higher awareness, I decided I wasn't going to "soldier on". Standing in the waiting room, I decided to capture the butterflies and release them forever.

I allowed my mind to focus into the physical location where I was feeling queasy — my stomach. When I did, I began seeing events of early in my life in which I had been the object of ridicule. When I'd been laughed at, it made me feel I wasn't good enough. I felt that belief was causing the butterflies. There are many ways to release a limiting belief and I dedicate a significant portion of Book III in this series to that topic. In this particular case, I envisioned the belief being burnt in the brightest of flames. Sometimes it takes more power than this, but in this case it worked. I immediately felt myself change. The butterflies were set free forever. The presentation door opened and it went great. A portion of the $75 million was raised.

Awareness and vibration go hand in hand

So, as my awareness went up, my vibration went up. I had removed the limiting belief. Because the belief was no longer in me, my mirrors shifted and the next 15 presentations were joyful — smooth as silk, as they say. I no longer needed the butterflies to protect me from public speaking and potentially getting hurt. The belief behind that fear was gone. Limiting beliefs are of low vibration, so when you remove one your vibration goes up, your mirrors are adjusted and you now broadcast and reflect your higher state of energy. This is the universal Law of Transfiguration at work. In my higher state of vibration I could no longer hold onto a belief that I would be embarrassed by public speaking.

The universal Law of Cause and Effect and society

Our society builds up its own mirrors. These mirrors reflect our collective thoughts as a society back at us. Humanity has looked into these mirrors and said, “Enough.” Humanity, as a whole, has begun rising in vibration and awareness. The mirrors of our society are reflecting this. Change is underway.

Transfiguration of Society

My examples of how the Law of Transfiguration works have been at the personal level. However, all of us in society are connected via the Matrix. Therefore, the laws of physics applying to me and you are going to be at work equally in groups of people, and society at large. When I removed my belief that I wasn’t good enough, collective consciousness had just a little bit less vibration of inadequacy. An action by one person impacts, bit by bit, everyone who’s holding onto a belief of inadequacy.

Just as it works with negative emotions, it works with positive emotions as well. As more and more of us rise in vibration, society is achieving a point where the higher vibration in some reaches a critical mass in energy. That critical mass will vibrate through and shift everyone in the system and society will move to the higher vibration. When the existing fear-based systems fall away, all of society is going to vault into a much higher state of vibration.

It needn’t be a long, slow process. We’re moving from a low energy state to a higher energy state. It takes a long time for a balloon to drift to Earth, but once filled with helium it rises swiftly. The transition through mass systems failures could be very unsettling for those who aren’t prepared. The more you depend upon and resonate with the very systems that are going to fail, the more water you’ll experience rocking your boat.

Avoid fighting the crocodiles while the draining of the swamp is underway

Currently humanity is attending to the destruction of life on Earth at an alarming rate. It took 65 million years of creation and evolution for 30 million lifeforms to emerge on the Earth. In a scant 100 years, 15 million species have been rendered extinct. It's like the death of birth. The entire swamp of abuses and misconceptions that led us to this behaviour are about to be drained. Remember, the systems that are going to fail are systems based in low vibration. They are controlling systems based in fear. We're throwing the fear bath water out and the fear-based systems are going with it. These fear-based systems will be replaced with new systems, systems that will be better by an order of magnitude. Keep this thought front and center as you're witnessing what I hope will be the relatively short-lived turmoil.

Before looking at the systems that are beginning to fall away, let's examine the two prime participants in the duel.

Pure Leadership is about staying in Stillness and out of the washing machine of the drama when systems fail. From Stillness it will be clear what actions you want to take. The washing machine will be filled with negative emotions. From a place of clarity, you can share why what comes next will be orders of magnitude better than what is being replaced.
